OUR STORY

Born in Fes, devoted to zellige

At the heart of the ALMIRA workshops lies one ambition: to elevate Moroccan zellige, a fired-clay mosaic handmade following an age-old process, and to bring it to contemporary architecture.

Every pattern is designed and crafted in close collaboration with everyone involved, from the design brief of the architect to the final laying of the panels.

70
maâlems cutting and assembling by hand

15+
years of experience for our master craftsmen

4
continents delivered: Dubai, UK, Australia, Brazil

SAVOIR-FAIRE

From clay to panel, entirely by hand

01 Clay & glaze

Natural clay and water, shaped, dried, glazed and fired. Quality is checked from the preparation of the clay onwards.

02 Hand cutting

Each piece is chiselled one by one by our maâlems, following the traditional geometry of Fes.

03 Hand assembly

Pieces are assembled face down into pre-assembled sheets, then inspected for pattern and colour.

INNOVATION

Pre-assembled zellige, ready to install

Building on their mastery of the traditional techniques of Fes, the ALMIRA workshops developed an exclusive process to manufacture zellige patterns in pre-assembled form.

Complex geometric patterns arrive as sheets, making it possible to install zellige as easily and quickly as conventional tiles, without losing any of the character of a hand-cut mosaic.

- Standard zellige, custom colours and custom patterns
- Bespoke shapes and project-specific layouts
- Design support for architects and interior designers

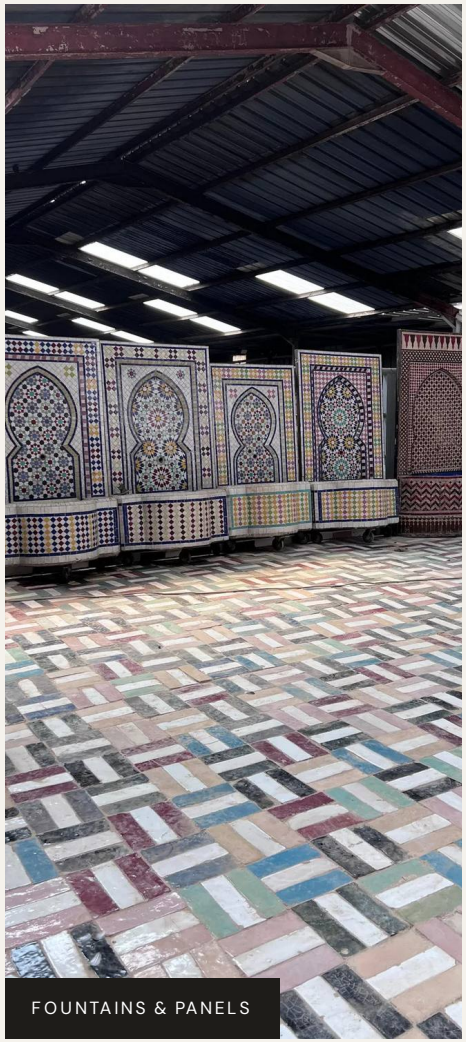

OUR WORKSHOP
